LOUISIANA AND THE UNION mportant Letter of the President I

The New Post Office Law.

There must be no flinching in its officers. We are lost if we tamper with the spirit of resistance to the draft in certain localities, hoping thereby to purchase quiet. The work must be thorough. All our great cities, Chicago not excepted, are in arrears to the nation. They have not equalled the country in sending men. Whetever any excesses of quotas have been furnished, at has been the rural districts that have send the surplus. Cities have done well in bounties, but bounties do not count on the enrolling officer's books. The city of New York is to sustain a large draft. Chicago is to be called upon for very many conscripts. In the former city, a resistance to the Government has sprung up, and has assumed threatening dimensions. The hour and the crisis demand firmness and no concession to the traitorous spirit of resistance. There must be no flinching or temporising. Let it be made dangerous everywhere to oppose the Government.

New York, July 18.—The New York Reresy Per's second edition has the following:
A slot was caused this forencon, consequent upon the draft being commensed. The rioters, from three to five hundred in humbet, were armed with bricks, clubs and atones.
It began at the headquafters of the 9th District, corner of 5d avenue and 46th street.
The machinery, books, blanks, dec., of the draft, at this point, were entirely destroyed, the building fixed, and the whole block enveloped in flames.
Two or three men, with axes, cut down the telegraph polecy in 3d avenue, and at 11 o'clock the wires were destroyed.

It is said that Superintendent Kennedy appeared at the scene of disturbance, and was

Af about half past ten o'clock the crowd rushed it, selied the books and papers, using great violence towards the officers and reporters present, who managed to escape, except Assistant Deputy Vanderpoel, who was hadly beaten and believed to be beyond recovery. Soon after, the building was barned, the demons meanwhile storming the upper part, where come half dozen families lived.

The next building took fire and use also destroyed, the ruffans shouting while it was burning. Women were also in the mob, in citing them on. All the home cars wen stopped, and the drivars taken off by the cowd.

The police were overpowered and beaten horribly. A blacksmith shop was also demonshed and its owner nearly killed.

Missouri, no State constitution, and contemplate holding a convention for that object. This heet alone, as it seems to me, is a sufficient reason why the general government should not give the committee the authority you seek to act under the cristing State constitution. The soldiers fired into the ruffans, when they were set upon and driven off and pursued about a mile. One of the soldiers was eaught and actually besten to death by beth was and account founds. Another was nearly torn to pieces, thrown over a precipical and his body stoned till half buried.

Soon after a squad of police arrived, but were driven off, one of their number being torn to pieces, and kicked into jelly.

The stores in the vicinity were soon closed by their owners, and the rioters had everything their own way. The firemen were not allowed to play on the fires.

The most horrible and beastly outrages have been perpetrated. Some twelve or thirteet policemen have been so brutally treated that their recovery is almost hopeless, and no doubt exists as to the death of Superintendent.

Manson, Wis., July 18, 1825.
The Copperhead meeting on Saturday night proved to be a slim affair. Three speeches were made containing ten words demundatory of the Administration, Union Leagues, de, to one of rejoicing over our recent victories. The same speeches were admirably adapted to inelte a mob spirit. Resolutions, were, however, passed thanking Generals Grant and Meade, and the troops under their commands, for their gloricus achievements, de., and asking for a rigorous prosecution of the war.

Total, thirty-three thousand five hundred. No fear concerning Gen. Bunks is felt here. The news of the fall of Port Hudson is looked for bourly.

Persons from mar Edwards' Ferry report the frequent sight of dead rebel soldiers Bosting down the Potomae. Eight were taken out to-day—all exhibiting gunshot wounds.

A heavy storm from the cast has been prevailing for twenty-four hours. The Potomae, at Georgetowa, had risen two and a half feot at neon, and the railroad bridge swept away, which caused the suspension of travel between here and Baltimore.

The river is already nine feet deep in Lee's rear at Williamsport, and will undoubtedly rise to flood height.

Washington, July E.—The number of prisoners who have been forwarded by the Provost Marshal General to Ballmore, is between 8,000 and 9,000. This is independent of those sent forward by Gen. Couch, and hundreds of deserters in Pennsylvania.

It is estimated that 3,000 deserters have left Gen. Lee's samy, a large portion of whom have made their way across the Fotomac and thence home.

From the best sources it is believed that Gen. Lee has yet in his command not less than 50,000 men.

A special to the Manning Past says that one of the heaviest rain storms of the season commenced at midnight and still continues. The road between here and Baltimore is reashed away-for half a mile.

The specials from Frederick make no meastion of any engagements between the opposing armies this morning.

Baltimons, July 13.—The American has the following special: Hagerstown, July 18th, Eavy this mines this morning.

A recouncilance from our right wing was thrown out, and discovered that the rebels had dillen ask from Hagerstown.

Washington, July 11, 1893.—The 199th New York regiment, which was among the captured at Harper's Ferry a year ago, and taken on parule to Camp Bongha, and which at the time was accused of cowardies, was among the bravest and most effective fighting regiments at the recent battle of Gestynburg, and lost bearity in killed and wounded. It nobly redeemed its good name. This regiments was raised in Senece, outsire and Yester Counties, New York.

CANETOWN, Md., July 11—the CRAMMESSMAD, July 12.—Hagerstown was occupied about 90 clock this morshing by Gen. Kilnatrick scarley, after a slight resistance. The object of the enemy in re-occupying the town so hort a space of lines, in partially explained from the fact that they removed from the vicinity a large amount of fence rails, which it is supposed will be used in erecting fortifications between that place and Williamsport. The rebels are in large force along the Williamsport and Clear Spring roads.

Washington, July 12.—Medical Inspector Nollium reports to Surgeon General Hammond that there are now in our hands, at Getrysburg, 10,000 rebel wennisd. This number will be increased rather than diminished, and the former estimate of 4,000 is now known to have been the mocreat guess work. The rebel losses, during the three hattles of Gettysburg, are, to say unofficially, footed up at the Surgeon General's as follows:

springs of action, that it makes war, or peace; it rends us in twain or binds us together; it sets us up, or pulls undown; if we have life, it is because we have at length gained the power and will to put Siavevy under our feet; if we cease longer to live as a great, free and united people, it is because Slavery chooses it to be so, and is too strong to be successfully resisted. It is impossible, we think, after the experience of this war, for the people of this nation to be made longer to give their cars to those who teach them they have nothing to do with filavery. We cannot again be persuaded that all our troubles and evils arise from an intermeddling disposition on our part, with that which does not concern us. The events of the last few years, show the truth in a light of clear, that he must be blind beyond expression, who can hope or trust, that there can, henceforth, on this continent be any permanent peace between the South and one or the other is put under such indicences and legislation as will lead to lie ultimate extinction. We must by this time have designed that have can be no permanent because of the suitimate extinction. ction. We must by this time have reed that the can be no permanent sation of strife between tree and slave constitution of strike between free and save institutions until one or the other is ex-tinguished. The question is not simply whether we can not ought to destroy stare-ry; but if we can not, or do not, will not slavery destroy us? If we do not become Abolitionists and abolish slavery, will they not become Abolitionists and abolish Free-dom.

m? It was to be expected that just this onld occur that we are told has taken ace, and in the very first suggestions or ans for a settlement of this controversy, place, and in the very first suggestions or plans for a settlement of this controversy, Siavery abould be put forward as the all important subject to be disposed of. There is hope to us in this fact, because it shows that men see and know what the cause and spring of all our troubles is; they understand the nature of the disease, and hence we may have grounds to trust that they will not treat it in such a way as to leave it a festering sore or lingering source of weakness, irritation and death at last. The forbidden fruit to us in this Western Continent, the garden of the Lord that we are placed in to drees and trim, is Human Hondage, American Slavery. Its mortal tasts has brought war and death into this world, and all our woe. We have but to get rid of this poison plant and all will be well with us; we have but to let it grow, take root new after this storm of war, extend and send out its branches to cover the land, and there will be no end to accumisting evil and disaster. We are rejoiced that the very first talk of peace talks at the same time of the end of Slavery. The one is the only sure basis of the other. End this war now, patch up a peace, and hold on to Elavery, refusing to emancipate or colonias and wit will have, in a short time, a blacker, leverer, bloodler war. There can be ne permanent peace without the extinction of Slavery. These mean to make at 1800 particular masses know it, the better. In this matter of the draft, the Government must be sustained or all law and all safety are clean gone-forger. It would be well for all our citisens to look at this subject calmly. If fire sponsible scoundrels—definingouss who have nothing to lose, attempt to set at the subject calmly. If fire sponsible scoundrels—definingouss who have nothing to lose, attempt to set at the subject calmly. THE FINAL SURRENDER

Grand March of our Army into the City. THE STRENGTH AND PLAN OF THE REBEL WORKS. Union Sentiment in Vicksburg.

COMPLETE DETAILS OF THE SUR-RENDER, BY OUR CORRES-PONDERTS.

Tasterday the rebels anni a flag of truce out on a very frivitious errand—something felsivire to a British a stiplect and his famility, partientally the good lady, who, it was calaimed, was in a very nervous (?) condition, fram the annoyance of our constant artiflery firing. It was simback with a little good advice.

To-day, again, the white flag appeared, About nine o'clock, Gem. Bowen and Col. Montgomery came to our lines, with a communication for (ien. Grant, which Gen. Smith forwarded to headquarters. It is reported that Ewes a proposition for conditional currender, which Gen. Grant returned, with the reply that his conditions are known—"It must be immediate and unconditional," and gave them until 2 o'clock p. m. to consider. It is now kng past the hour given, and yet no firing its heard. It has been quiet all day, and as I wrife? Can see along the line, the two armies in conference, in a very amicable way. At this writing the appearances all indicate a surrander without conditions. A few hours will reveal the issue of a prolonged conference between representatives of the two armies.

AXIEST OF THE AIRCH.

Tween representatives of the two armics.

ANXIET OF THE AIMY.

It is to be looped the may be my ferture to record in this leaser, the welcome information that "Vickeburg has fallen." We await he leane with breathless anxiety, for we all know how much of rational laterest hangs upon our success. The army is all in a finiter of crettenent. Hours have passed, daylight has disappeared, the evening well advanced, yet no gun is heard. The question is often an anxiously asked, "what does all this portend." Each one puts his own version upon sfairs, the larger majority believing that to morrow we shall march into Vicksburg, a triumphant army, to celebrate the anniversary of our National independence upon ground so long contested.

long contested.

It is quiet as summer eve in the country, and this alleance seems particularly ominous, because it is the first prolonged quiet we have experienced since we first invested the city. It is said that Grant and Pamberton met within our lines this afsencon, and no one knows that Pamberton has yet relared. Corps and division commanded we were invited to turn lines this afsencon, and no one knows that Pamberton has yet relared. Corps and division commanded we have too lift to take charmans. The glorious 45th: The glorious 45th in the steep of the contrast of the said under the country of the glorious 45th: The glorious 45

In this great drama.

All intercourse between the two arisiss was prohibited until the final act of enrender was consummated; but it the contract of Gen. Legett, whe had command of the ecremonies on our side, your correspondent was permitted to pass our plakets and get among the relabelere our ramp passed in, and thus see how they endered the final pangs; and he must be faithful to the trait by saying that the robels seemed to lay down their arms very much as though they were giad to get rid of them—very much be thought of the continuous discerners the finitest say of that proud regret at not having been permitted to die in the last ditch, which Southern assumption would have led him to look for. In fact, I noticed oue company which hearched out on a quick march, and marched back on the double quick, kleking up their heels and generally enjoying the occasion as much a may of the "Tanks."

And this was not a Tennessee, but a Mississippi company—not a Union man among them, but every one of them heartily tired of the siege, and tired, I think, of the war.

PLANTING THE STANS AND STRIPES.

As soon as the occasion of stacking arms was over, Gen. Mei'herson, simply standed by his division Generals and etad, rode into the city, and look formal pessession. No ermaes by the citizens, as to meably the case the city, and took formal passecsion. No emissional polynomial polynomial processes and the citizens as it meaning the case when yield of the citizens as it is meanly the case when yield of the citizens armice enter conquered rebattowns. I have heard of but one instance of this kind occurring during the whole day, which I will mention hereafter. Gen. Mo-Pherson proceeded to the Court House, and Cel. Coolbamph and Leut. Co. Storag, of his staff, went up, and at half past cieven planted the stars and stripes on the cupols of the building, gave three cheers, which were heartly repeated by the officers below, and then sang "The Battle Cry of Freedom." All of which was littlened to with due (outward) respect by the outhor crowd of gaying seases who who exceeds the scene.

Wallandighams, Criticoleus and Sewards, plead they never so softly.

Wallandighams, Criticoleus and Sewards, when my last letter was finished, every thing, and every body were in suspease. We ware particularly anxious to know whether we should celebrate the eighty-severth anxives, sary of our National Independence in Vicksburg, or whether we must celebrate it by dealing death to the rebel crew. No firing was heard along the line until daylight, and then only blank cartridges, as a salute to the velcome anniversary. After a few rounds all was quitt again. Eight o'clock was the hour to decide whether Pemberton would adopt or reject the very courteous terms proposed by Gen. Grant. We walked out to the front and made a guerral inspection of the motify crowd gathered on the parapet of the forts and banks of the ritle pila. They have made a galland fefunce of the city and we can but respect them. As we looked along the line out synapsity for a fellow for mode as rejoice that Gensel of the city and we can but respect them. As we looked along the line out synapsity for a fellow for mode as rejoice that Gensel of the city and we can but respect them. As we looked along the line out synapsity for a fellow for mode and the forts and banks of the ritle pila. They have made a guite and the morning.

The warra rate.

By inquiring it was ascortained dutal the control of the forts and banks of the ritle pila. They have made a guite and the second of the forts and banks of the ritle pila. They have made and a city from her soft of the forts and banks of the ritle pila. They have made a guite and the control of the forts and parks of the ritle pila. The hour of celebrate was accordanced to the forts and parks of the reason that they was a control o surrender. Both armine remained outside their works, with the same indifference they had madifiested ell-the morning.

THE WHITE PLAS.

By inquiring it was ascertained that a new shuffle had been made during the night, and the time extended to ten o'clock. At that time white flags were to be raised on the forts if the terms were to be accepted. We waited two more long hours before any change was noted. A sastien and will cheer along the time of Corr's Dictrical indicated that the white flag was to be seen in front. There it was—simple in itself, but more cloquent than words. One after another the flags were planted on the forts, until each grim earthwork so long definal and successful, waved the message of peace and submission. None but those who have suffered and folied night and day for nearly fifty days and nights, can appreciate how bright this anniversary promised to be. None but those present can estimate the enthusiasem manifested by our army for this glurious triumph. There was something more than apread eagle ceremonies. Here was a presided re-afficination of mational vitality—national independence and power. This day so long revered and loved by this, the gesstest victory of modern times. Will not this army and this nation now have double cause to beautily celebrate the day that gave us national existence? How we mourned the need of the telegraph line to final the intelligence home to those who were celebrating in the meal way.

is. No even a rine pit can be found bealthd like.

It has been often asid that "every street is berisheded and filled with ride pits." At the foot of each street running to the rear, there is a breast work, facing the water. These were to the rept any attack from the river, and are of no use in any attack from the river, and are of no use in any attack from the rear. These are the only barriendes or ride pits in the streets of Vicksberg. The rabels have the full limit of their former line. We have sentincin posted along the whole line of works. sestincis posted along the whole line of works. In all the paraphermain of war, there is nothing so military in appearance as a sentinel walking the parapher of a fort or on the top of fortifications. It is grand to see so long aline of sentries walking the "bed line" while our army steeps.

would have been a virtual acknowledgment of what the Confederacy claimed to be; and if he had been permitted to go to Washington, it would have ecclosely embarrassed our Government, by making propositions that would have called for Cabinet discussions. Your Washington dispatch cays: "Admiral Lee was the instructed to ascertain, if possible, the object of their mission." This is a mistake. On the contrary, Admiral Lee was adaponished under no circumstances to hold any communication, with, Mesers. Six phens and Onld. All intercourse with the rottels was probabled until advices from the President could be received, and when these came, Col. Ludiow as come, proceeded on the Henry Burden to the place where, the Torpado was at anchor, and there coulerred with them. The rebel best fild not leave without "any parting abundance on explanation," but white swading the answer from Washington merely cruised ascut the James three, beyond our lines. Col. Ludiow partied with Mesers. Biespiems and Onld on amicable terms.

(Press the Hichmond Enquirer, July 4th)
On Tauresbay evening, about 6% p'elock, e.e., Jenkins brigade advanced upon the saceny, who were posted strongly on Crump's
Hill, about four miles conthwest of Taustail's Station, in New Kent. The enemy, upon being made aware of the appreach of our forces, tree up initing of battle, and prepared to receive them. Our men, eager to test the mettle of the five, hastened forward, and upon gotting in range let fly a voiley statong them.
The enemy faintly returned the freq. and the cleaning away of the smoke revealed their entire column in precipitar preferat. Gen. Jenline pushed on after them, the men roaring with about so ilsugitar and enthusiasm, but the Enches were too far shead to be effectviewly jurshed.

After a chase of rescrip four miles, which left the enemy of Tunkell's, (and till making on, it was after ward reported, to the White House, our forces refrired over a part of the field of the "fright," It is not known how many were wounded, as they were carried of the field by their comrades. A small force of our cavairy under Col. Shingier made serving assume charges during the affile. Our loss was one tilled and one wounded. The prisoners arrived last evening, and from their secounts Dix has not more than four of five thousand men at the White House. They seem dissulsified, and some of them say that the most of the troops under Dix are tired of the war, and weary of the fully of "taking Hithmond."

On the same day a large force of the enemy, cettimated at between 1,500 and 2,000 countsing of mounted infairty, amported by serciral places of artillary left the White Home, went up tota King Whiliams and at Mangoohick Church found the King Whiliam House
